THE AMERICAN MAIL.

The O. & O. steamer Arabia, with dates from San Francisco to the 24th January, arrived yesterday. The following telegrams are from our exchanges:

THE STORY OF GORDON'S DEATH.

LONDON, 18th January. Dispatches from Sunkin give an authentic account of the death of General Gordon at the fall of the city. The story is told by a Greek who was present. "I saw it," he said, "at Kharoum the night it fell. General Gordon had enough troops to defend it, but did not construct new trenches. The corps were held by Faris Pasha, but during the night the latter moved his troops to the other side, where they said they were wanted. Gordon had implicit confidence in Faris. When the attack was made he was not in resistance at the largest gap. Faris said to him, 'What do you say? Unless you attack to-night all is lost.' Had this British troops arrived one hour before the attack, Kharoum would have been held by Gordon. The night was filled with blood and famine, and the city passed from Gordon to the Mahdi, horrible with the shrieks and cries."

The Greek says he had two Mahdi uniforms, one he gave to a friend and took the other himself. He was arrested into his house and told him to go to the Government House, as all the great Mahdi officers were there. He said, "When we arrived at the Government House, he continued, "I saw Gordon Pasha smoking a cigarette on the balcony. With him were George Denetris, the principal medical officer in the Sudan, and Nicola Smidt, the Greek consul. The 5000 soldiers who were sent by the Mahdi to take Gordon alive were at the foot of the minaret."

"Gordon only left the balcony. The others urged him to fight. He indignantly refused to leave his post, but went in, put on his uniform and sword, and, coming out, looked proudly down on the angry sea of upturned faces. 'Whom seek ye?' he said. 'Gordon Pasha.' 'I am he.'

The Mahdi's Generals came up, and Gordon then said, "I am he," and handed them his sword. In a military manner, surrendering according to the custom of the times, a General seized the sword and struck Gordon's head off. He fell, rolling down the steps, and as he rolled another stabbed him again, and then Gordon died. Some say the body was cut down and taken to the Mahdi."

JACK THE RIPPER AT WORK IN JAMAICA.

NEW YORK, 21st January. The crowds of various steamers plying between this city and Kingston, Jamaica, are telling fearful stories of the men committed in Spanish town, a village near Kingston. A General, a Captain, and a number of the sailors, Dr. Steeke and others made violent anti-Semitic addresses.

of Battenberg to Vienna, where he has been dined and feasted by the Emperor of Austria and the Prince and General of the empire, has given rise to a rumour concerning Bulgaria which is calculated to revive European interest in that principality. It is said that, in view of the somewhat unstable hold which Prince Ferdinand has been able to acquire upon Bulgaria, intrigue is on foot to replace Alexander on the throne. In that event, he would be backed by Austria. The news, however, are that Prince Alexander has carefully avoided all reference to Bulgarian affairs, although there is ground for the belief that the Tsar is rather more inclined to a reconciliation than he has been heretofore. Nevertheless, more probability attaches to the rumour that Prince Alexander contemplates entering the Austrian army, as his father did Archduke Albrecht, Imperial General of the Army, and Crown Prince Rudolph of Austria, both shown unusual interest in his presence in the Austrian capital.

It is reported that Pozen Patriotic, who accompanies the daughters of the Prince of Montenegro to St. Petersburg, will submit to the Tsar a plan for forming a Balkan confederation. This would consist of Greece, Rumania, Serbia, Bulgaria, and Montenegro. Greece, according to the scheme, would have the presidency of the confederation, and the other thing would be under the protection of Russia.

THE MATOR OF BREMEN SIGNED.

BREMEN, 21st January. A banquet was given at the castle to-day to which all persons down to the humblest official who had been decorated during the past year, were invited. Major Forckenbeck, however, did not receive an invitation. This marked slight of one who had been decorated by Emperor Frederick for services during the floods is supposed to be due to the political opinions of the Marshal.

THE DOCUMENTS IN THE GEFFENSON CASE.

BREMEN, 22nd January. According to statements current in official circles, if Prince Bismarck is forced by political exigencies to publish the letters in the Geffensohn case, hinted at by the Cologne Gazette, they will prove that Emperor Frederick and his wife were indifferent and divided the plans of 1870. Distracted by the terms of alliance and the unfriendly attitude of France, the Emperor, according to the present Emperor, but the strength of public feeling against further scandal has become so extreme that the semi-official press has received hint to cease discussing the subject.

THE ANTI-SEMITIC LEAGUE RECEIVES SUPPORT.

The annual fete of the Free Students' Anti-Semitic Association was honoured with the presence of Count Von Metzke, Professor Bergmann, and a number of the circular clubs. Dr. Steeke and others made violent anti-Semitic addresses.

LORD RANDOLPH CHURCHILL.

NEW YORK, 23rd January. A cable special to the Mot and Express from London says: "Lord Randolph Churchill has arrived in Monte Carlo. A party of Europe is in the town, in all kinds of splendour, some of which is very wild. During his short stay in Paris he was the guest of the Marquis de Broc, one of the cleverest of the Royalist Deputies, an advocate of the policy of effecting an agreement between the Royalists and Bonapartists. One newspaper asserts that Lord Randolph will aid the interests of the Royalists in the advocacy of such a union."

GENERAL WELLESLEY DISTRESSED BY GERMANY.

PARIS, 23rd January. The forthcoming number of the Revue Internationale will contain an article by Albert Fourier, headed "Gambetta and Bonaparte." It reappears on the "b" of a French general, who was in the confidence of M. Gambetta, that the latter had a strong dislike for Bonaparte, and says that after Bonaparte had presented to him as a person to whom he could speak on an American subject, he said, referring to Bonaparte, "His feet dictate him." He never looks one full in the face. I will not see him again." Later on Gambetta also expressed his fear of Bonaparte's ambition.

MISCELLANEOUS ITEMS.

London, 20th January. It is stated that all the English steel-mill makers have agreed to form a trust, and that the French, German, and Belgian makers will follow in their wake.

The man who was the author of the famous speech of 1848, and who is very high-spirited there, is now a pensioner called "Trot." The words were of the same nature as those in the speech of 1848.

A third body was found on the Friday before New Year's Day. The scene of this third murder was about midway between the places where the former discoveries had been made, and the sailors insist that the crime was in every way analogous to the others. There are comparative few instances of this class about Kingston or Spanish Town, but those who do live there are in a state of abject terror. The murderer has eluded the authorities.

THE DUKE OF MARLBOROUGH AND HIS AMERICAN WIFE.

NEW YORK, 23rd January. A special cable to the World from London says: "It is reported from Woodstock that there are queer things doing at Blenheim Palace. Since the Duchess returned from the south of France it is said the Duke professes to have discovered certain secret rooms in the house that are not entitled to his title, and she is very high-spirited there. She is now a pensioner called "Trot." The words were of the same nature as those in the speech of 1848.

THE PARLIAMENT INQUIRY.

PARIS, 23rd January. Before the Parole Commission to-day a man named Pichard, a solicitor, who is not to pay rent, has, however, been evicted. He afterwards employed in the office of the Dublin branch lawyer. He carried letters, some of which contained checks from Patrick Egan to Malleson, the Invincible.

Farrar further testified that Arthur O'Conor, Member of Parliament for East Cork, held an important post in the league; David Sutton, a solicitor, was a member of the executive; Nally used to visit the league rooms.

Sir Charles Haines said that the Nally under discussion was not "Scandal" Nally. He was another Nally, whom Parnell had thanked for his services to the league.

Sir Henry James, counsel for the Times, produced a report of a speech made by Nally at a League convention at Castle-bar, in which Farrar strongly recommended Nally for rendering great and important services to the league when it was first formed.

THE RANGAN AFFAIR.

LONDON, 23rd January. Phelps, United States Minister, had a conference to-day with Lord Salisbury on Samoan affairs.

It is stated on trustworthy authority that the British Government has decided to uphold the present terms of which European powers are agreed to, retaining, or attempting to retain, dominion in Samoa. Germany has been fully informed of and agrees with the United States' Government's views on the object. It is agreed that the action of German agents in Samoa is opposed to the letter and spirit of the treaty; that it violates diplomatic etiquette and endangers the good relations to be maintained with our European friends. Dispatches to this effect have been sent to the Foreign Office.

The Paris Le Monde says: "A plan is of threatening nature. In consequence of the advances the British fleet in the Pacific will be immediately by at least two powerful vessels."

After Mr. Phelps had left Lord Salisbury had an interview with the Prime Minister, Movements of Prince Napoleon.

LONDON, 23rd January. The Paris Le Monde says: "Prince Napoleon as suddenly disappeared from the island, and as taken up his quarters in a chateau, far removed, close to the French frontier, so that he may be near at hand in the event of certain contingencies which might arise as a sequel to the election of Boulanger as deputy for the department of the Seine."

PRINCE ALEXANDER.

NEW YORK, 21st January. A cable special to the Mot and Express from London says: "The visit of Prince Alexander

This should be acted on the first time cause of complaint occurs; it is a mistake to let such matters pass for fear of giving trouble, a course which generally gives more trouble in the end.
